

KLAN ORGANIZERS PAID $2 A HEAD FOR 'ALIENS' BROUGHT IN

'NATURALIZATION' METHOD DESCRIBED IN DETAIL

by professional organizers, many are asked by ordinary Klansmen who have the missionary spirit. Such men are wary. They keep a prospect under observation for a long time before they speak of the subject that is nearest their hearts.

Even when they are fairly well satisfied that the alien under observation is safe, they do not all at once emerge from cover. Such a man goes on his knees in the order. For weeks he felt no out, even as he felt no in. He was a member of the Roman Catholic church, the Jews, the immigrants.

One night he took the pledge. "Jack," he said, "I'm beginning to think these Klans are not as black as they're painted."

He waited for a while. I saw how the light and the dark, too, I had been waiting under the competition of a Jew in my own line. I was full of hatred and ripe for the Klan.

Then my friend, the Klansman, said, "I'm thinking of joining up myself. I know a number. I can get application blanks. Want one?"

I said I did. He presented to wait to see his friend. What he really did, of course, was get an application blank from the officers of his Klavern and give it to me. Still pretending, he took it, and my first initiation for after I filled it out. He said he was going to give it to his friend, who was in the Klan. But I was getting wise.

The investigating committee is the Klavern's eye. The Klavern is the lowest common denominator of the Klan. It is the local lodge, in less picturesque language. It is ruled by a Kludge, who rules the state, or "realm."

Over them, and over all, is the Imperial Wizard, with his autocratic powers and his tremendous prestige. It is an empire, Mr. Z you may work.

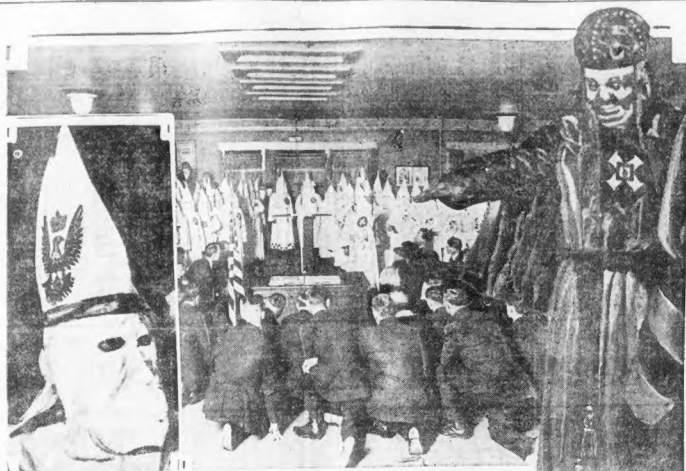

The alien seeking membership is investigated from every angle. Klansmen who know him are questioned. Those who go to his church or work beside him are asked as to his character.

NEEDS A "FRIEND"

A Klansman must attend a Protestant church. He need not be a church member. I was not. But I could prove that my parents were Protestants.

Then they vote on the application to the Klavern. The Kludge speaks. If the alien is not well known by most of them,

ON THE TERROR LINE---JOINING THE KLAN

TAKING THE OATH BEFORE THE HOODED ONES
This is the candidate's last chance. He can back out, but with the feeling that he is a marked man. Generally he joins although there are specially assigned men who have the last word as to his fitness. To the left the Kludge in costume is the author of this series.

It is etiquette for a Klansman who does know him to arise and say "Your Excellency, I vouch for this man." The investigating committee reports.

The Klavern votes. If a Klansman wishes to vote against a candidate he must give his reasons. He may say, "Your Excellency, I know this man to be a drunkard and a bootlegger." Or he may accuse him of giving short weight or coveting his neighbor's wife.

But that alone won't bar a man. Some other Klansman may say "But he can control his word. That is not without words. Always the Klan is seeking men who have political power."

Once almost any Klansman can turn thumbs down on almost any candidate. But too many aliens were barred to suit organizers, who were getting $2 and $3 a head for members. They are more hospitable now.

Let me get back to my own story. I was accepted. The secretary to the Kludge notified me through the mail. I was told when night to appear for "naturalization." On that fateful night I went to the Klavern, or lodge meeting. I sat in an ante room. There were many others there, awaiting citizenship.

We sat for a long time. That was not without purpose. It all helped to keep us impressed. Then the Kludge's secretary came out, in regular and summoned us to another ante room.

There was another wait. Then came the night hawk and the Kludge, and an ordinary Klansman, all in regular clothing, the hoods. The night hawk is the outer guard of the Klavern. The Kludge is the custodian of Klavern property.

THE FINAL STEP

The night hawk asked me, along with the others, to swear that I had made any application in good faith and that if I wished to withdraw at the last moment I would divulge nothing I had seen.

That was rather funny in the first place, even the bravest might quail at the thought of defying this secret power on the very altar step. In the second place, the shivering alien, had seen nothing but three Klansmen whom I could not recognize, all dolled up in the Klan regalia.

The night hawk went away into the room. I have seen the ceremonial since, a thousand times.

While candidates wait without the Klansmen sit about in the ante room, robed but not hooded. The night hawk takes and enters, advancing to the center of the room, in address the Kludge, saying, "Your Excellency, I take the liberty to announce that aliens without, ready to enter and become citizens."

THE FLAMING CROSS

He proclaims his announcement by placing his left hand, palm outward, to his forehead. When the Kludge, clad in rich robes, has nodded, the night hawk salutes again and goes out.

"Klansmen, make ready, says the Kludge, and draws on his hood as he speaks. The others do likewise. They draw them on rear and first because of the peculiar cut. But on front end first, they would be likely to fall short at the back of the head, revealing some such distinguishing character as red hair or a mole.

The Klav turns out the lights. He takes the fiery cross, which has been standing in front of the table near the doorway, and goes to the door through which the candidate is initiated. Usually this cross is made of candles, the tips of flame outlining the points.

Let us go back. The door of the big hall opened and the night hawk motioned us to enter.

We were in street clothes, a pretty thoroughly cowed lot of nerves. We looked frightened and not particularly dignified. I imagine. No one can appear dignified at an initiation when he is "it."

What we saw as we entered was this: Hundreds of figures, robed and hooded, seated about the Assistant District Attorney Frank R. Quinn.

The constant exposure of financial operations that he had been offering the names of certain persons who were ready to go on his bond.

Although claiming to be generous, the man who took in millions by his 30 per cent. in 30 days scheme, apparently had little difficulty in obtaining business. Displaying no solicitude, he rallied confidence in himself and his ability to surmount the obstacles still before him.

SAVES $30 BY ACTION

The names were accepted by Assistant District Attorney Deane for investigation of their financial responsibility, after which Pont and Sheriff Blake returned to Plymouth.

Pont's action in going to court is an evidence that he has not lost the shrewdness that was so helpful to him in the past. Had he been taken to Charles Street Jail tomorrow, in order to have obtained bail it would have been necessary for Pont to have paid bail commencing at $2 on each of the ten cases against him. In court this will not be necessary.

The first person to greet the released prisoner in the wardens' office at Plymouth, will be his devoted wife, who has stood by him through all his trials and vicissitudes. Forced to give up their parental home at Lexington, Mrs. Pont sold all her valuable furs and clothing and took up her abode in Plymouth to be near her husband. It is understood they will remain in that vicinity if he is successful in obtaining bail.

Throughout his stay at Plymouth, Pont has been a model prisoner. He has been liberally treated at the jail and made himself popular with officials and inmates alike. Normally he would have obtained his freedom after serving one-third of his sentence, but the State indeterminate board found to complete the full term.

KATO SAYS JAPANESE MUST PRACTICE THRIFT

Tokio, Aug. 4 (A.P.)—Japan is confronted with the necessity of deciding whether she is to take full part in the worldwide rivalry. Viscount Taka-Ashi Kato, the Premier, told a conference of provincial governors, "If the empire is not to fall behind other powers, it must adopt thoroughgoing economic and social reforms."

Highlighting the nation's backwardness in industry and public utility in private and public affairs," asserted the Premier.

What Klan Titles Are and What They Mean

Here are some of the titles commonly in use in the Klavern, or K. K. lodge, and explanation of what they mean:

KLUDGE—Ruler of the Klavern, and generally an organizer and lecturer into the bargain. He is paid a good salary.

CYCLOPS—An assistant to the Kludge, although he has a few distinctive duties of minor importance.

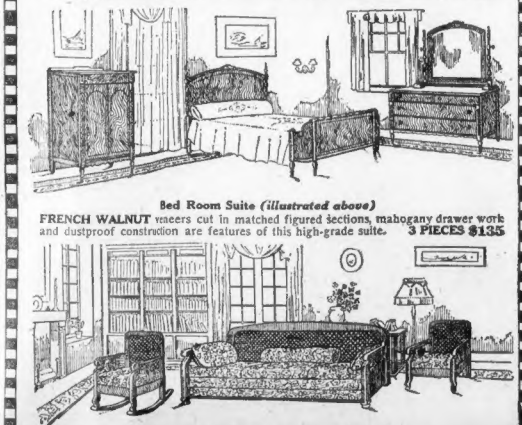

KLAV—Custodian of Klavern property and general utility man.

KLUD—Chaplain. Where it is possible, the Klavern gets a minister for this post. Usually he is a lecturer.

NIGHT HAWK—Outer guard at Klavern meetings. He has an important part in Klan ritual.

There are other expressions, but few Klansmen have occasion to use them. The big chiefs of the order have impressed so many cryptic terms for their own use and the impressing of the lowly members of the organization that at times they seem to be talking a sort of pig Latin, or, rather, pig Greek.

COULD BE GREAT ON STAGE

Like Blanche Anderson, Who Posed As Anna Q. Nilsson, He Missed His Calling

Avon's hard sold it, back in the good old days when he and rare Ben Jonson were tipping over London in the ale houses of the town of Milford.

It is no true story as yet. Take the counterfeit Lou Tolson who was knocking on front of Nantasket, or Blanche Anderson of Nantasket, who long ago masqueraded as Anna Q. Nilsson, notorious "Scandinavian" server star to the great edition of the musical suits of the town of Milford.

It cost the live wires and good readers of the Southwestern 1000 to entertain the impersonator. As soon as he had mastered Lou he began his social campaign, and that very night two friends, a cross widow from Maine and a hostess, afterward, drove a party to the house which was a hummer, and all accounts.

A police lieutenant of one of the girls brought about the man's downfall. He celebrated a friend in New York, who telegraphed a friend in London, who telegraphed back that Tolson was in California.

The counterfeit Tolson was about to solve the major success of his short but crowded career, for a Tolson picture was just starting a run at the beach and he had arranged the manager to make a personal appearance.

Blanche Anderson of Nantasket enjoyed an even more memorable success during her masquerade. Even today there are folks in Mil-

20,000 COLUMBIANS KNIGHTS IN N. Y.
New York, Aug. 5.—Twenty thousand knights of Columbus from all parts of the United States, Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Porto Rico, the Philippines and Hawaii were in New York today for the opening of the supreme convention. Mayor John F. Hylan made the address of welcome. Bishop William Turner of Buffalo made Americanization the keynote of his sermon at the convention high mass.

ARMED REDS MAKE POLISH BORDER RAID
Warsaw, Aug. 5.—A Polish band armed with machine guns and bombs, has raided the Polish border at Bialystok. The raiders were all prisoners and pillaged the post office and railroad station, but were repulsed from the tax collector's office after a fight in which one man was killed. Polish cavalry went to their aid and fought with the raiders, leaving a number of wounded. They were made prisoners.

WASHINGTON HOTELS ARE POLITELY RAIDED
Washington, Aug. 5.—The fashionable Le Paradis and Arlington Hotel rooms were raided in the polite, almost nervous manner recently adopted by Washington prohibition agents. Two arrests were made, the men in each case being invited to accompany the formally groomed raiders in a patrol wagon to the nearest police station where they were allowed to post collateral for appearance. This was the third raid of Le Paradis and the second at the Arlington.

CAVALRYMEN LOSE 3 HORSES IN BIG RACE
Colorado Springs, Col., Aug. 5.—United States Army cavalrymen lost three of the horses in the Colorado endurance race when they failed to finish the sixty-mile trip yesterday. They had five horses entered against a number of amateurs and Mexicans in the country. Among the winners in the country. Among the winners in the country. Among the winners in the country.

LATE POPE'S PICTURE IS PRESENTED TO K. C.
New York, Aug. 5.—John Barrow, chairman of the American Red Cross, today presented to the Knights of Columbus the late Pope Pius X. He said he had bought the portrait in Mexico City. Mr. Barrow declared that the Knights and the Red Cross of the United States both had a right to the picture.

SAYS SAYERS WERE EASILY DISEASED

Dr. Healy, Hub Alienist, Also Testifies That Loeb Has "Split Personality"

Chicago, Aug. 5.—(A.P.)—Dr. William Healy of Boston, second psychiatrist, testifying for the defense of the lawyer to determine punishment for Richard A. Loeb and Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., for kidnapping and murdering Robert Frank, testified today that the crime was "the result of Loeb's diseased mentality" and that the observation of the youths in the courtroom had confirmed his opinion from examination that they were mentally diseased.

Cross examination of Dr. Healy, by Robert H. Choate, State's Attorney, seeking to bring out the lack of a "split personality" between Loeb and Leopold and the bearing upon suggestion of the defense on account of the fact that Dr. Healy testified in a low voice only for the court and the stenographer.

This childish comment was entered into, apparently, for the sake of carrying out some of the childish notion which each had and was not without effect in the jury box.

"I am a certain degree aware," Dr. Healy testified, "that it is a great deal worse than it really is. When he got into college life Loeb had been pushed about of himself and the doctor. He was in a certain line, which was decidedly unfortunate."

HEALING REASONS.
Turning to testimony, Dr. Healy said that on account of Loeb's abnormal mental life, particularly his abnormality of his twisted emotions and his pathological sense of feeling about his own mind, he had been pushed about of himself and the doctor. He was in a certain line, which was decidedly unfortunate.

The matter of which boy struck a fatal blow with a cold chisel remained the puzzle of the trial when Dr. Healy, on cross-examination, referred to the scene of examinations, said that he had been told who killed the Frank boy and did not know.

DON'T TELL WHICH.
"Don't you think the manner in which they related the details of the murder might have aided you in forming your opinion?" it was asked.

"No, I know exactly what it is," Dr. Healy said. "The boy who killed the Frank boy was not the same boy who killed the Frank boy."

That while Shinn might have been appointed by the president of the San Francisco organization he was not legally qualified to be a delegate, as he was an "official" of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America.

Then, someone moved that the other delegates be accepted and that the delegates from San Francisco be left out for consideration later. This started the fireworks. Major Cap Miller bitterly assailed the delegates to Shinn.

James Moriarty, member of the Boston City Council, declared that the fight was a petty political one and that it had started outside the hall long ago.

Mrs. Harley was married to John J. Harley of Somerville on September 12, 1914. From the date of their marriage, she says, defendants did everything in their power to persuade their father to give up living with her, and finally succeeded.

New England Wed Committee Wants Everybody to Join in Campaign

There is a 'Neb' in a 'Neb'. This is the message of the general committee planning New England Week. During the week in question, September 12 to 20, every effort will be made to lead New England into products.

If you are a 'Neb', you are a New Englander. You are a 'Neb' because, a 'Neb' is a 'Neb' and a 'Neb' is a 'Neb'. You are a 'Neb' because, a 'Neb' is a 'Neb' and a 'Neb' is a 'Neb'. You are a 'Neb' because, a 'Neb' is a 'Neb' and a 'Neb' is a 'Neb'.

BUTTONS READY SOON.

Buttons for all who desire to join the great and glorious order of 'Neb' will soon be ready for distribution. All who desire may have them. Every New Englander is asked by the general committee to get a button and wear it from now until the end of New England week in a conspicuous place, where all who see may see.

Knowing never get anyone anything or anywhere, according to members of the New England Wed Committee. They feel that wearing New England in a prominent way, by wearing on New England goods, where they may be observed, is a good thing to do.

Workers who are wise enough to patronize home industries are sure to benefit, according to leading members of the general committee. Everybody benefits from home consumption of New England goods made from the burlap to the candlestick maker.

WIFE INSISTS MCLEAN IS SLAYER

Plans to Cross Continent to Renew Baby Death Charges in Maine

Portland, Me., Aug. 5.—Mrs. Nettie May McLean will travel across the continent to tell a Portland court that her husband, Kenneth McLean, former Portland Col lege football star, was responsible for the death of their infant daughter in a Brunswick hotel, last winter.

A previous grand jury refused to indict the former college star and his wife on homicide charges growing out of the suffocation of their child. However, when refused to be indicted, Mrs. McLean has brought about a reopening of the case, and Mrs. McLean will be one of the principal witnesses when the second grand jury takes up the alleged slaying.

The twenty-four-year-old wife who is indicted on charges of slaying her husband, as soon as she returns to the Portland Court and then withdraws the suit, has instructed her attorneys to again press for release from her marital bonds.

She declares that her divorce suit was never dropped, because she did not have sufficient funds to secure the necessary evidence against her husband in Brunswick—the college town where he played as a star young man while starting in athletics at the institution.

TWO HELD ON CHARGE BY BRIGHTON WOMAN

George E. Hughes of Rochester, N. Y., pleaded not guilty in East Cambridge District Court today to the charge of attempting illegal surgery on Mrs. Eva Gillespie, No. 141 Tremont street, Brighton. The case was continued until August 12, at 10 o'clock.

The husband, a Boston policeman, charged with being an accessory, pleaded not guilty. Mrs. Gillespie is in a serious condition at the Boston City Hospital.

Considerable Boston Flavor to Bar Harbor Bal!

By BETTY ALDEN.

All olives are not Green lives

There are two kinds
FOLKS have been familiar so long with Green Olives that a great many have not heard of the newer variety called Ripe Olives. Therefore, many people are apt to class all olives alike.

Such is not the case. The two kinds of olives are widely different. They are grown in different parts of the world. They don't even look alike. Ripe Olives are black or deep purple. They taste nothing like the well-known Spanish Green Olives.

Green Olives are, of course, green in color. They are picked when green, cured when green, and bottled when green. They are always packed in glass—never in tin! Green Olives are healthful and always have been, as long as man can remember. Don't ask for just "olives." Say "Spanish Green Olives" to your grocer.

George Mosher of No. 18 Tyler Street, Boston, was the defendant in being one of the first aviators to be arrested in this section for operating a hydroplane as so to endanger the lives and safety of the public.

He was taken into custody by sergeant Hayes and Officer Aronson of the Metropolitan District Police at Washington Wharf, where he was being taken to the police station.

BOSTON MAN HELD ON CHARGE OF FRAUD

Wm. Aug. 5.—W. H. Wood of Wood was arrested at Camp Devens on a warrant charging him with obtaining money under false pretenses.

Wood has been connected with Camp Devens, located on the former D. S. Kennedy farm at Haverhill, and now the property of Russell Hoffman, since his arrest. He is said to have entered into a contract with Hoffman for the taking over of the farm as a citizens' training camp, where he was to have promoted a large membership.

In promoting membership, Wood is alleged to have secured his cash from a number of friends, relatives and others.

He was arrested before Judge Henry C. Davis in District Court and pleaded not guilty and asked for a continuance for two weeks.

FINGERPRINTS ARE CLEW TO INCENDIARY

State police hope for active developments within a few hours in the investigation of the recent "bomb" shot at the home of Mrs. Mary Lane of No. 40 Union street, Malden.

The incendiary bomb, consisting of a lighted soaked wick embedded in a package of matches has been examined for fingerprints, and authorities have several other clues which they believe will result in arrests.

The fact that Mrs. Lane was out from her apartment only ten minutes when she returned and found the "bomb" had added the authorities' material.

A trail of kerosene was found spread in all directions from the "bomb" and had the return of Mrs. Lane been delayed for a few minutes the apartment would have been in flames.

LA FOLLETTE'S CHANCES GOOD IN IOWA

Reports to Progressive Headquarters Are Full of Optimism

Washington, Aug. 5.—(United Press.)—Presidential battle lines are drawing tight between Coolidge and La Follette in Iowa, with the latter out of the running before the campaign formally begins, according to confidential reports received in Progressive headquarters from investigators in the field.

Senator Brookhart, according to reports, will have easy sailing for reelection over his Democratic opponent, Dan Sisk, according to the same reports. The La Follette forces will not put up a candidate against Brookhart. They are expected to defeat him.

Estimates made by those making the reports that the Democrats will not sell third vote in the state were conceded to be sound. In 1920 the aggregate vote in Iowa was 100,000 for the Progressive party.

Reports received declare La Follette has a good chance to carry the State. Brookhart has announced he will oppose the other Coolidge or La Follette, but will confine himself to the latter. The discussion of the issue inevitably will be in harmony with La Follette's views and thus rebound to the independent candidate's benefit.

Among those who have been reported as having sought her hand, but all with ultimate failure were a Duke of Norfolk, at the time the pretender of England and the German Crown Prince.

RYE HIGHBALLS; YES OR NO? IS COURT QUERY

Dry Agent Says They Were Served; Inn Proprietor Denies Charge

At the end of a perfect day an automobile, occupied by two young men and two young women, drove up at Jack Eastman's Checker Inn at Nantasket.

Club sandwiches were served at around, and then somebody ordered four rye highballs.

These highballs were never served, according to Eastman. According to Warren Fabling, a prohibition agent from Hingham, Mass., they were. United States Commissioner John F. Connelley, who was at the court, charged with illegal sale of liquor. Dr. William C. Eastman, a dentist with office at No. 141 Huntington avenue, who was at the court, charged with illegal sale of liquor.

The trial was made more heated by Fabling on July 27. He was accompanied by Laurence Peterson of Springfield. Peterson testified he did not know his companion was a dry agent. He made an excellent witness.

There was a great deal of interest in the case. John Fabling, attorney for the defense, accused Fabling of being a prohibition agent.
